thegreenlist.nl

your go-to place for a sustainable lifestyle

The greener lifestyle platform

Thegreenlist.nl is the go-to lifestyle platform for greener living and the largest social community for anyone looking to live more sustainably. We emphasize 'greener' because we want to inspire everyone to join us. Our goal is to show that sustainable living is both important and enjoyable, that you can still have just as many adventures and live well. We steer clear of preachy attitudes and the 'you're not doing it right' mindset. Our mission is to spark daily ideas for a more sustainable life. We do this through our website, social media, (e)books, newsletter, podcast, mainstream media, and by partnering with great brands.

We only share what we would personally recommend: to our friends, neighbors, family, and our loyal readers and followers. That's what makes us credible and sets us apart.

Since 2022, founder Saskia has regularly appeared on TV as a sustainable lifestyle expert, and as of May 2024, she is the resident columnist and sustainable travel reporter for the leading travel magazine Columbus.

Thegreenlist.nl is certified by influencerregels.com.

At thegreenlist.nl, we curate daily inspiration for a more conscious and enjoyable lifestyle. As trendsetters in sustainable living in the Netherlands, we bring together the best: original ideas, practical tips, and surprising solutions. Our goal? To show everyone that living greener not only feels good but is also a lot of fun!

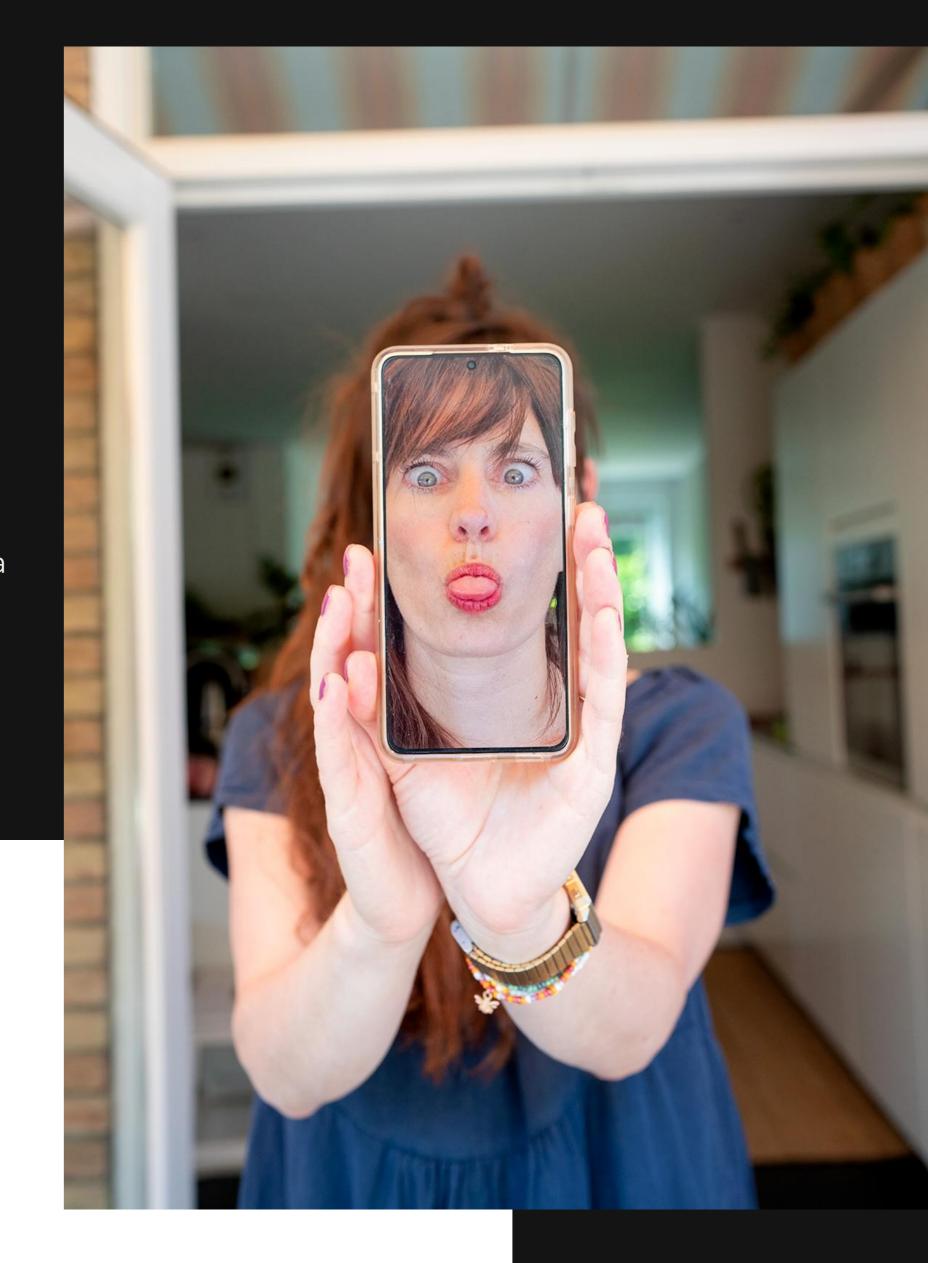

Who we are

Thegreenlist.nl is enthusiastic, positive, and action-oriented. We speak from our expertise and experience, always avoiding the impression that we know better because, truth be told, we don't. However, we love thinking in solutions, bursting with great ideas and fun tips to inspire and entice our readers.

Thegreenlist.nl is a community, your green companion. That's why we specifically highlight ideas and tips from others, including our readers and followers, giving them a platform to connect as many people and ideas as possible.

In an (online) world saturated with (in our view: instrumental) sustainable content, and where robots can generate uninspired articles within seconds, thegreenlist.nl distinguishes itself with a new, fresh hue of green in the sustainable media landscape.

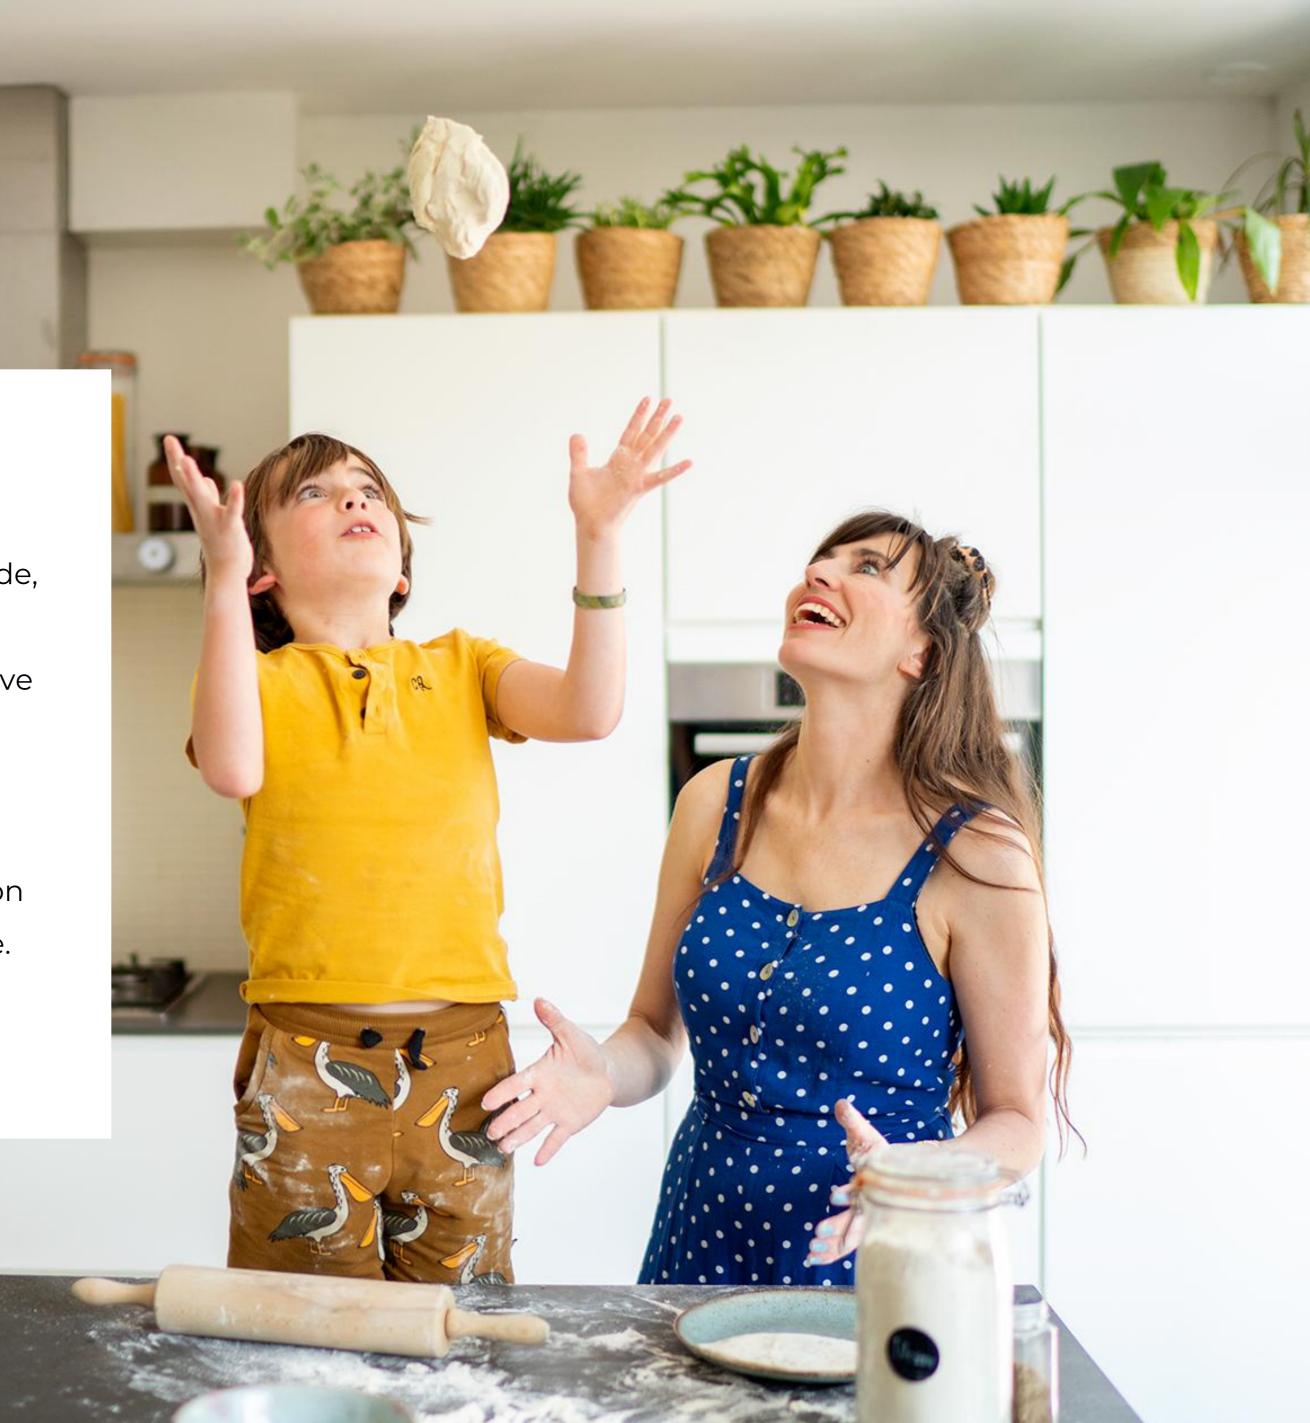

Our DNA

- We are a journalistic lifestyle
 magazine, creating content across the entire spectrum of sustainability.
- We don't criticize anyone and encourage every idea and every step.
- We are solution-oriented and always have good ideas and solutions. Not everyone will agree with us, but in our opinion not every idea needs to be perfectly green. Choosing significantly less meat or opting for a non-industrial piece of meat, we consider that a win too.
- We understand that sustainability is a complex concept encompassing
 issues such as climate change,
 environmental pollution,
 overconsumption, resource scarcity,
 animal welfare and inequality. We strive to explain as clearly as possible in which areas and how things can be a more sustainable choice. In our view, things can already be a good idea if they address one or several of these major problems.
- Our content is cheerful, and our articles are lively and well-written.
 We want you to feel excited about sustainability. We are your green companion. That's how we write. No robot can replicate that.

- We don't like nonsense. We conduct thorough research and use reliable sources, which we always cite.
- While we certainly address those already on board with sustainable living, our primary goal is to inspire those who are not quite there yet.
- We step into the world of our readers. We don't talk in lofty terms; instead, we make subjects tangible and relatable. We love clear examples and recognizable daily situations.

Green with a bite

- We're self-aware; nobody lives perfectly sustainably. Those who claim otherwise, we find less credible
 and not particularly friendly.
- We steer clear of no-brainers
 because, by now, everyone knows that 'buying second-hand more often' is better for the planet. We take the next step and provide you with original ideas on how to do that.
- We reject sustainable jargon.
 Impactful? In the green bubble, it might be widely known, but outside, people have no clue. We prefer
 'harmful to the planet' or 'a negative influence.'
- Our day is a success if we've managed to inspire just one person
 to make a different (better) choice.

Hi! My name is Saskia Sampimon-Versneij, and I am a sustainable lifestyle expert and the founder of thegreenlist.nl. I am also the author and publisher of the most enjoyable sustainable lifestyle book: NIKS NIEUWS (Nothing New), as well as various e-guides, including the No Buy Fashion Guide and a sustainable bookkeeping guide.

What began in 2020 as a personal quest for a more sustainable life has grown into the premier sustainable lifestyle platform in the Netherlands. A dream come true for me as a journalist and content creator!

Together with my amazing editorial team, I aim to inspire as many people as possible to make more sustainable choices.

The time I have left, I prefer to spend with my family. I am married to David and the mother of Frank (2015). Together, we explore how we can live more sustainably.

- Have good taste when it comes to fashion, interior design, (vegan) food, entertainment, and vacations.
- Authenticity trumps pretty pictures and empty talk.

Bij een groene citytrip denk je niet snel aan het financiële district, met zijn wolkenkrabbers, drukke verkeer en haastige zakenlui die met hun Starbucks-koffie van of naar hun werk hollen. Toch vind je juist in 'The City' verrassende groenvoorzieningen. Een verborgen parel is St. Dunstan in the East Church Garden, een middeleeuwse kerk die in de Tweede Wereldoorlog werd verwoest. In plaats van wederopbouw, besloot men in de jaren zeventig de natuur zijn gang te laten gaan en de ruïnes te laten overwoekeren. Het resultaat? Een serene oase met klimop, bloemen, vogels, eekhoorns en bankjes waar je volop kunt genieten van de rust. Kortom: één van de zeldzame plekken in de stad waar de telefoon nog in de broekzak blijft. St. Dunstan is dagelijks gratis te bezoel 🗧 🔿 tot 19 uur.

Backstory

Four years ago, I made the shocking discovery that if everyone in the world lived like me, we would need over four Earths each year. Four Earths?! That had to change. I had to change!

So, I began researching how I, as an average consumer, could lead a more sustainable life. I approached it as a journalistic project from the start. Everything I learned and encountered; I've been sharing on my website and social media ever since. Soon enough, I gained many followers and readers. Fast forward: thegreenlist.nl has now evolved into a sustainable lifestyle platform, my business, where I, along with an enthusiastic team, work on a daily basis.

With my positive and open approach, I hope to engage in the right conversations with my followers and readers so that we can learn from each other. And it's working. With the largest greener social community in the Netherlands, there's a cool solution for every problem.

Together, we know so much! And it's precisely those original ideas that get a spotlight.

The success of thegreenlist.nl has led to appearances as a sustainable lifestyle expert on TV programs such as Koffietijd and Eigen Huis & Tuin: Lekker Leven, , as well as a regular column in the leading travel magazine Columbus.

Initially, I thought my quest for a more sustainable life would be a practical task of finding alternatives. But it turned out to be much more than that. For me, it's a journey towards a more meaningful life. It's about slowing down, discovering who you are, and what truly matters to you. Realizing this, I've become a happier person. I'm more content and concluded that aiming for less gives you more: more time, more attention, more quality in life. In short, I highly recommend this lifestyle to everyone!

Love, Saskia
